Welcome! This Professional Disclosure Statement is designed to present my credentials and approach to counseling.

The Therapist

My highest degree is a MS in Counseling from Portland State University, in Oregon. My major coursework included marriage and family studies, child and adolescent development, stress management, grief counseling, and counseling theories. My BA is from the University of Oregon, in Rhetoric and Communications. My major coursework included interpersonal and family dynamics and communication, as well as small group dynamics, and conflict and negotiation.

I am a Licensed Professional Counselor and a National Certified Counselor. I am a current member of the Oregon Counseling Association, the Oregon Mental Health Counselors Association, and the American Counseling Association. My services are rendered in a professional manner consistent with the ethical standards set by the above associations, as well as those of the Oregon Board of Licensed Professional Counselors and Therapists, and the American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy.

As a Licensed Professional Counselor I participate in required annual continuing education (at least forty (40) clock hours of continuing education every two years) in the areas relevant to this profession and of special interest.

Counseling Approach

I counsel individuals, couples and families who I believe have the capacity to resolve their own problems with my assistance. I believe that as people become more accepting of themselves, they are more capable of finding happiness and contentment in their lives. However, self-awareness and self-acceptance are goals that sometimes take a long time to achieve. Some people need only a few counseling sessions to achieve their goals, while others may require several months. As a client, you are in complete control and may end our counseling relationship at any point. A result of effective counseling should enable you to face life's future challenges without the therapist's direct support or intervention.

Counseling, however, cannot be effective if you only concentrate on your issues and concerns once a week. Therefore, as part of my approach, I will ask that you do specific activities and/or read specific books that will help to speed up the time it takes for you to work out your concerns and problems.

My approach to counseling includes a blend of Family Systems Theory, Adlerian, Existential, Transactional Analysis, Behavioral, Rational-Emotive, and Reality Therapies.
